

HCC Committee Description:

It is January of 1944, and World War 2 rages on. As the Americans continue their island hopping campaign in the East, inching closer towards Japan, North-Eastern China is still under the control of the Japanese, who seem to gain more territory in China with each passing day. It is up to the Nationalist government, and the members of the Chinese Communist Party to work together to drive out the Japanese, preventing the further suffering of the Chinese people. The future of China depends on decisions made now, and questions of leadership, loyalty, and liberty will be sure to arise as time marches on.
